New Macmillan Novels

Ready This Day

Mr. John Luther Long's new novel

The Way of the Gods Cloth, $1.50

Since the death of Lafcadio Hearn there is no one who approaches the author of "Madame Butterfly" in the ability to make his readers feel the charm and atmosphere of Japan, while he tells of the fair Hoshiko's longing for the intense joy offered her at the price of eternal obliteration.

Mr. Owen Wister's new novel

Lady Baltimore Cloth, $1.50

By the Author of "The Virginian."

Charmingly illustrated from original drawings.

"That the author of 'The Virginian' could deal deliciously with such a rich field . . . might be assumed. But with what charm and delicacy, fine humor and insight, the work has been done, only a direct acquaintance with the finished volume can justly show. The Southerner will certainly find enchanting home touches in it, and every reader will feel the spell of the quiet old southern town and all the tender, dainty and humorous southern life and atmosphere that hang about it."
—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Agnes and Egerton Castle's new novel

If Youth But Knew Cloth, $1.50

"The story shows that rare combination of poetic tenderness and romantic adventure which is the unfailing charm of the fiction of these authors."—Record-Herald, Chicago.

Published by THE MACMILLAN COMPANY 64-66 5th Ave. New York

Consistent Sellers

OF the many novels published this spring few have displayed more consistent selling qualities than

KARL GRIER

AND

The Arncliffe Puzzle

Both Louis Tracy and Gordon Holmes have the story-telling art down to a fine point.

If you want something worth while to recommend for summer—or any other time—reading, you cannot go far astray with these.

EDWARD J. CLODE, Publisher, New York

Ready May 11

THOSE who have been roused by the new type of "independent" will feel strong emotion in reading this story of a young man making an uphill fight against ignorance, prejudice, the saloon element, the unscrupulous power of boss rule, and even criminal violence.

How his character and courage serve him will interest Americans, while the love story that runs parallel with the adventurous side of the book is convincing and dramatic.

Huntington, Jr.

By EDWARD CLARY ROOT

With four illustrations in color by S. M. Palmer

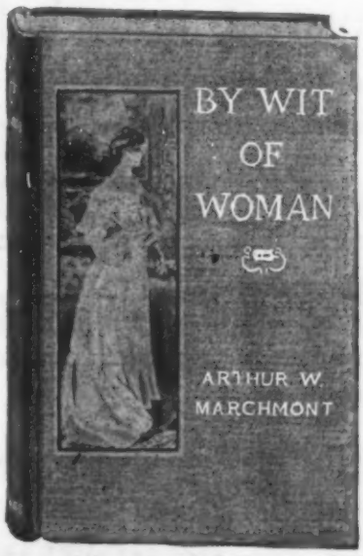
WHAT a girl's wit, sharpened by American education and backed by western independence, can accomplish in the field against powerful conspirators for whom the stake is a throne and the lives of men are mere pawns, is the theme of this story. By her cleverness, resource and courage, she makes her way through a succession of adventures as startling as they are novel and mysterious.

By WIT of WOMAN

By ARTHUR W. MARCHMONT

AUTHOR of "BY RIGHT OF SWORD," "A DASH FOR A THRONE," ETC.

Illustrated by Frank T. Merrill, with frontispiece in color



"A ROUSING GOOD NOVEL, . . . one that we read with pleasure and put down with regret."—The Baltimore Sun.

READY—TWO IMPORTANT BOOKS

The International Cook Book

By ALEXANDER FILIPPINI

Formerly of Delmonico's. Author of "The Table."

This is the world's cook book. A chef of many years' experience at Delmonico's, Mr. Filippini in 1898 made a tour of the world, and, aided by letters from Secretary of State John Hay, secured entrance to the greatest kitchens on three continents, with the result that he has been able to select over 3300 recipes (many unpublished), which he has adapted to the American taste, and arranged in diary form. Comprehensive, yet practical, the book is of the greatest value in even the average household.

Two washable bindings, white seal grain and red Morocco grain. Net, $4.80 (postage 48c.)

How to Buy Life Insurance

By "Q. P."

Of all printed literature on life insurance, there has never been available before in a simple form such information as would really guide the policy-holder, from a policy-holder's point of view.

But "HOW TO BUY LIFE INSURANCE," by "Q. P.," treats a policy as merchandise, and tells in words simpler than your policy what every one should know. ($1.30 postpaid.)

NOTES IN SEASON.

F. M. BUCKLES & Co., New York, will issue May 19 "The Race of Life," a vigorous story of the Australian bush, by Guy Boothby.

DODD, MEAD & Co. publish this week Baroness von Hutten's "Pam Decides," of which the second large edition was ordered before publication; and also have the third edition of George Barr McCutcheon's "Cowardice Court" on the market.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. need have no fear of lack of paying appreciation for their "Vanity Square," a story of Fifth Avenue life in New York City by Edgar Saltus, who always puts literary quality as well as strong interest into his eagerly expected writings.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY issue this week "The Way of the Gods," by John Luther Long, a story of joy and sorrow in Japan of the kind in which the author is past master. Owen Wister's "Lady Baltimore" is meeting with the success it deserves, with its rare atmosphere of good old times and perfect ladies and gentlemen in Southern surroundings.

EDWARD J. CLODE, New York, calls special attention to the selling qualities of "Karl Grier," by Louis Tracy, that strange story of a man with a sixth sense, by which he could throw himself into a trance and see and describe strange lands and unknown people; and "The Arncliffe Puzzle," by Gordon Holmes, an ingenious detective story unravelling the mystery of the death of a wealthy English baronet found helpless in his library.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready "The Private War," a new novel by Louis Joseph Vance, said to be even more ingenious in construction than his successful "Terence O'Rourke." The publishers announce that the publication of Mrs. John Van Vorst's eagerly expected "Letters to Women in Love" has been postponed until the early fall. Mrs. Van Vorst is now in Paris, where she is writing a series of papers on child labor for magazine publication.

L. C. PAGE & Co. have just ready "The Voyage of The Arrow," by T. Jenkins Hains, first announced under the title "The Golden Arrow," another of this author's inimitable sea stories of piracy, storm and shipwreck. The Arrow sails to the China Sea and meets with all the adventures and perils the author's active imagination can picture, including its final capture by "sea vultures" and the punishment in time meted out to them. The novel has illustrations in color by H. C. Edwards.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY will publish May 11 "By Wit of Woman," by Arthur W. Marchmont, who pictures what a girl's wit, sharpened by American education and backed by Western independence, can accomplish against powerful conspirators, for whom the stake is a throne and the lives of men are mere pawns; and "Huntington, Jr.," by Edward Clary Root, a story of a young man's fight against ignorance, prejudice, the saloon element, the unscrupulous power of boss rule and even criminal violence.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will publish the following books to-day: "The Game of Bridge," by Fisher Ames; the first volume of "The Victorian Chancellors," by J. B. Atlay, of Lincoln's Inn, to be completed in two volumes; and new editions of three of E. Phillips Oppenheim's popular novels, "The Betrayal," "The Traitors" and "The Yellow Crayon," containing the further adventures of mysterious Mr. Sabin. The new illustrated edition of "Truth Dexter," by Sidney McCall, will be published Saturday, May 12. They have postponed publication of "The Wire Tappers," by Arthur Stringer, until May 19, and "The District Attorney," by William Sage, till May 26. Anne Warner's new book of the inimitable Susan Clegg stories, entitled "Susan Clegg and Her Neighbors' Affairs" will be published early in June.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

☞ The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price. ☜

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Eddy, Walter Hollis. Experimental physiology and anatomy for high schools. N. Y., American Book Co., [1906. Ap25.] c. 110 p. D. cl., 60 c.

Author is chairman of the department of biology in the High School of Commerce, New York City. Though the importance of physiology in secondary schools is everywhere recognized, little attempt has been made to place the subject on an experimental basis. This book has been prepared in an effort to call attention to the great field which this subject presents for laboratory study. The book in the starred topics of the table of contents meets the requirements of the New York State Syllabus, and as a whole has been accepted by the Harvard University authorities as meeting the entrance requirements.

Hopkins, Herbert Müller. The Mayor of Warwick. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1906. [Ap.] c. 4+435 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The author is a grandson of John Henry Hopkins, the first Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Vermont. He is a graduate of Columbia, was instructor in Latin in the University of California, and is now professor of Latin in Trinity College, Hartford. His varied experiences in universities East and West, and his knowledge of ecclesiastical circles, have stood him in good stead in writing this novel of political and college life in an up-to-date New England college town (Hartford?). A bishop full of old traditions, his beautiful niece, with all the culture, force and weakness of the American woman in her present unnatural life, several professors of marked characteristics and the Mayor of Warwick, who has been a baseball professional and a car conductor, are chief characters. The book is artistically written because, although its most astonishing secret is divulged within the first third of the book, the interest never flags to the last words, which are almost as astonishing.

The author left Pam before she was twenty, having resolved never to marry, because all marriages she had known were unhappy. She is twenty-seven, living in poverty and seclusion in London with her old faithful servant Pilly, when circumstances again bring her in contact with the Duchess who had always loved her grandfather, and her cousin who had once wanted to marry her. The important new character is a young Slavic nobleman whom Pam admits to her home, although keeping secret from all others where she is living and earning a pittance writing cheap novels. For three years the drama of her life is described, then she decides according to her manifold character. For notice of "Pam" see "Weekly Record," P. W., Mr. 11, 1905 [1728].

The story opens at a ball. The heroine tells of her love for the hero, who leaves her to devote himself to a woman wearing a superb diamond. After a time, while he comes again to dance with her, the rumor is started that the woman with the diamond has been murdered in an alcove window. Suspicion points to the hero and the diamond is found in one of the heroine's gloves. Detective work begins, and every theory is believed and rejected with the well-known ingenuity of the author of "The Leavenworth case."

Selkirk, Emily. The stigma. Bost., Herbert B. Turner & Co., 1906. [Ap.] c. 6+272 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

A picture of life as it is to-day in a small town of southern Arkansas, where the white inhabitants are ignorant and shiftless and filled with a bitter hatred of the negro. The leading characters are two finely educated whites, a woman and a man, brought from the East to take charge of the only white school, and a young woman, also well educated, who has charge of the colored school. It is to the latter "the stigma" attaches of having some drops of colored blood in her veins, though she is apparently white. Her tragical death is only one of many shocking scenes in the story. A special plea for justice to the negro.

A poem of 114 stanzas in sonnet form. Since the early '70's the author, one of America's most famous editors and lecturers, has been living in the American literary colony of Paris, but has never lost touch with American conditions. This poem is aimed at the present worship of money and riches of his country, and is a cry for higher ideals and a warning of the consequences of the present greed and unrest. He typifies the true American spirit in the trailing arbutus (the mayflower) and compares the present generation with the little mighty band that came to the shores of the new land in the Mayflower. A pretty piece of book-making.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MAY 5, 1906.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

SORTING A SECOND-HAND DEALER'S BOOK STOCK.*

WHILE it may be true that there is no book, however insignificant and out of date, which a dealer in old books cannot sell sooner or later, it would be unwise for any bookseller to litter up his shelves with insignificant books in the hopes of selling them ten or twenty years hence at a considerable advance on the original purchase price. Indeed, as far as practicable, the dealer in old books, as also his brother dealer in new and current books, should buy, or rather keep in stock, strictly such books for which he has a demand, or for which he can find or create a market. This is especially necessary in large cities and towns where rents in desirable localities are high, and shelf-space, therefore, is proportionately valuable. Hence, the tendency of the modern antiquary to specialize; and if a beginner does not at once devote himself entirely to one subject, he will sooner or later probably find it profitable to pay more attention to one or two subjects than to all of the others that come to his hands.

If, therefore, after much trouble, sacrifice and vexation the dealer in old books has consummated a purchase, and the books are finally deposited in his shop, he must apply himself to the judicious sifting of his purchase. What shall be put on the shelves and what must be discarded as rubbish are ticklish questions. They are questions of importance, moreover, and not so easily to be decided, since all is not waste paper which the casual observer may be disposed to regard as such. To quote from Max Weg's charming book, "Das deutsche wissenschaftliche Antiquariat": "As every individual has at least one amiable trait of character, one physical or mental distinction, so a book which may seem to belong to the limbo of rubbish, on account of age or subject, may have a redeeming feature, though visible only to the trained observer, and may be interesting and saleable, be it to wise men or—to fools, since one must be prepared to deal also with the latter class. The ways of collectors are so strange, their passions and dispositions so singular; the fashion of collecting so erratic, leaping as frequently from the sublime to the ridiculous as from the ridiculous to the sublime, that the dealer in old books must be reasonably prepared for the future to supply even the seemingly most 'impossible' mania of collectors.

"Whenever room permits, therefore, it is advisable not to be too rash in condemning books to the rubbish heap; and if one is not absolutely certain of its uselessness it might be better to defer its destruction until its room is demanded by a more desirable work. As to some books uncertainty seems hardly possible, their uselessness being so apparent. In such cases everything that distinguishes and adorns the offender is stripped from him. The parchment of his binding is peeled off, portraits, plates, maps and other desirable illustrations ripped out; the ex-libris removed, the so-called super ex-libris, stamped on the front of the cover, cut out; indeed, after it is denuded of everything that may be of any value the degraded and dismembered book follows his fellow sufferers into the waste-paper heap. Away, then, thou honest medicus of 1800, away, too, thou antiquated chemist, physicist and geographer, and take with thee these legal 'meditations' and this 'German history;' away with thee, thou thrice damned 'Zumpt,' but not thou, thou facetious ditty sung by a loose rake; I shall save thee and thou shalt survive thy learned contemporaries who despised thee, because science becomes antiquated but love and poetry remain forever young."

Even in exercising such discretion and discrimination the bookseller's shelves and storerooms will in time overflow and make necessary another sorting, and still another, some of the residue, if of enough value to pay for cataloguing and handling, becoming food for the auction block, the remainder for the maw of the paper mill.

*Continuation of the series of "The Profession of Bookselling." A list of authorities quoted will be given on conclusion.

WE are at work on the "Summer Number" of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, which will be published on May 26. We specially desire to meet the wishes of publishers in the matter of extracts from their newest books, and therefore beg they will notify us of their choice as early as possible. We would suggest that it be kept in mind that this number should be made sunny and cheerful, and that it would be well to avoid gruesome books with harrowing problems in making selections.

A "CENTRAL CATALOGUE OF THE WORLD'S LITERATURE."

A WRITER in a recent issue of the Library World has figured out, hypothetically, of course, that there are 30,000,000 publications in the world, excluding manuscripts, and that every year 500,000 new ones are added, besides 50,000 or 60,000 periodicals with their daily, weekly or monthly issues. The writer then proceeds to make a few calculations concerning the cost and so on of a "central catalogue of the world's literature." There would be 30,000,000 cards, of one entry each, to begin with, occupying 2840 statute miles. "Stocked in tiers eight feet high . . . this would occupy 118 statute miles," and, as the writer remarks, it would need a motor car to get from A to M. The cost of making—not printing—such a catalogue would be, "roughly," some $40,000,000. Even in these days of gigantic enterprises it would take long to get enough millionaires to carry out such a visionary scheme, though, no doubt, "promoters" could see a profit.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

THE LENDING OF MUSIC.

THE following bill has been introduced into the House of Representatives by Mr. Bennet, of New York, and ordered to be printed:

A BILL

To amend title sixty, chapter three, of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to copyrights.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That section fifty-nine hundred and sixty-six of the Revised Statutes be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to add at end of said section the following:

"Nothing in this Act shall be so construed as to prevent the renting of religious or secular works, such as oratorios, cantatas, masses, or octavo choruses from any person, musical library, or society, nor to prevent any person or society from obtaining copies of any such work from any other person, society, or musical library owning the same."

COMMUNICATIONS.

SAN FRANCISCO BOOKTRADE RESUMES BUSINESS.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: In common with other business houses in San Francisco our store and stock have been destroyed by fire.

We will continue in business, and in a short time will have as fine a store as before. We will immediately proceed to replace stock, and have established our headquarters in Oakland, P. O. box 363.

The latest lists of publishers and manufacturers will be welcome.

Very truly,
THE WHITAKER & RAY COMPANY.
OAKLAND, Cal., April 21, 1906.

SAN FRANCISCO PLUCK.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25, 1906.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Every bookstore, new and second-hand, wholesale and retail, has been swept away. I have not yet met any of the members of the trade and do not know what their several plans may be. I shall, however, start afresh as soon as I can find a room, which is difficult. I have been somewhat knocked out, but propose to stay with San Francisco—begin business in a shack if necessary. It will only be a matter of a few years ere we have a finer city than we lost. I may add that I will continue to sell books at full price. No $1.08 of $1.20 can pay a dealer. With best wishes, I am

Yours truly,
A. M. ROBERTSON.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Madame and the Home Magazine have been taken over by the Bobbs-Merrill Co., and with the May issue will be published under the name of the Home Magazine.

Harper's Weekly for April 28 is devoted to the "Destruction of San Francisco," and shows most energetic and artistic work in its articles and pictures describing the indescribable catastrophe of April 18.

Watson's Magazine in its May issue offers a seven-page essay on Upton Sinclair's "The Jungle." It is reported that the President has been so impressed by this remarkable book that he has ordered a rigid investigation by special experts of the business of packing and selling meat at Chicago.

The Illinois State Register, Springfield, Ill., has been printing in its Sunday issue under the title of "The State Register's Midwinter Reading Circle" several standard and popular novels, each novel complete in either one, two or three issues. The feature has proven so successful that the paper will now have a permanent fiction section, and has already made arrangements to print "Hearts and Masks," by Harold McGrath, and Tolstoi's latest story. They have just finished George Barr McCutcheon's "Beverly of Graustark" and Hamlin Garland's "Hesper."

OBITUARY NOTES.

HENRY PATERSON MAGGS died of pneumonia on the morning of April 25. The news just reaches us by letter from his brother, senior member in the firm of Maggs Brothers, 109 Strand, London.

WILLIAM VEAZIE, formerly special partner with John Wilson & Son, died at his home in Somerville, Mass., on May 2, aged seventy-seven. A sketch of the life of Mr. Veazie, so many years connected with the publishing and printing trades in New York and Boston, will be given in a later issue.

PETER ECKLER, the veteran publisher and printer, died May 1, at his home, No. 44 McDougall Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., of injuries received a week ago when he fell on the elevated station, at Ralph Avenue and Fulton Street. He was born in Catskill, Greene County, N. Y., in 1823, but came to New York City when a young man. Mr. Eckler had been in the printing business since boyhood. He published most of the writings of Colonel Robert Ingersoll. He leaves a wife, a son and a daughter.

PROFESSOR ISRAEL C. RUSSELL, head of the Geology Department of the University of Michigan, died of pneumonia on Wednesday, May 2, aged fifty-four. Professor Russell was graduated from the University of the City of New York and from the Columbia School of Mines. In the early seventies he made a complete tour of the world. For many years he did work of recognized merit as geologist in the government service. He wrote freely of his expeditions to glaciers and mountains and contributed many articles to technical and popular magazines.

LEMUEL N. IDE, one of Boston's oldest book dealers, died at Newton Centre, Boston, on April 27, aged eighty years. He was for many years a member of the firm of Ide & Dutton, who were predecessors of the Old Corner Book Store concern, Edward P. Dutton, senior member of the firm of E. P. Dutton & Co., being his partner. When the partnership was dissolved Mr. Ide went to Claremont, N. H., and entered the Claremont Manufacturing Co., which did a large publishing business. Later he returned to Boston, where he entered the Old Corner Book Store. He took an active part in the business up to five years ago, when he retired.

MRS. MARY HENRY ALLIBONE died at the residence of her daughter, in Philadelphia, after a brief illness, on April 20, in her seventy-ninth year. Mrs. Allibone was the widow of Dr. S. Austin Allibone, author of the famous "Allibone Dictionary of Authors," and was a collaborator with him in his great work, having prepared the ms. for the press, which included copying at his dictation over 19,000 sheets of foolscap. Mrs. Allibone was a daughter of the late Alexander Henry, of Philadelphia, and was prominent in literary and society life. To the day of her death she was interested in all current topics and had a wonderfully brilliant and active mind.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE Cercle de la Librairie in Paris has lately opened a reading and writing room for its members and those allied to the trade. The last report of that society shows that the membership totalled 411 subscribers.

ROBERT APPLETON COMPANY, publishers of "The Catholic Encyclopedia," announce that they have opened a branch office in the Fine Arts Building, Chicago, Ill., for the control of the advance sale of the "Encyclopedia" in the Middle West, and they have appointed as their agent Mr. James Plunkett.

LOVERS of Dickens will be interested to learn that the original of "Little Dorrit" is still alive. She is Mrs. Cooper, the sister of Dickens's school chum and his playmate in the days when she was Mary Ann Mitton, and has lived for more than half a century in the south of England. Though now more than ninety years of age, Mrs. Cooper retains full possession of all her faculties.

A. S. BARNES & COMPANY announce a new volume in their Lives of Great Writers Series, "In the Days of Scott," by Tudor Jenks, in which is told the life story of the novelist and his surroundings and influences. Like the preceding volumes on "Chaucer," "Shakespeare" and "Milton," the author has invested the subject with fresh interest far removed from a critical analysis with dry facts only.

W. A. BUTTERFIELD, 59 Bromfield Street, Boston, has just issued "Coincidences: Bacon and Shakespeare," by Hon. Edwin Reed, who again adds a book of conviction that Bacon wrote the works attributed to "Shake-speare," which he claims is merely a pseudonym adopted by the great philosopher. He also announces for immediate publication editions of "Julius Cæsar" and of "The Tempest," with introductions and copious notes to prove his position in the great discussion.

WALTER M. HILL, 833 Marshall Field Building, Chicago, announces a special limited edition of "Madeline," a new bookish story by Roswell Field, whose "The Bondage of Ballinger" appealed so strongly to literary readers. "Madeline" treats of the notable friendship and confidential discourses of two booklovers, and Madeline, the poor relation of one, furnishes the romantic element. The book will be printed in exquisite style and its contents appeal to collectors and bibliophiles.

A. N. MARQUIS & COMPANY has now issued "The Fading of the Mayflower," first promised for March. The book is by Theodore Tilton, long editor of The Independent and a platform lecturer of great ability in the '70's. It consists of 114 stanzas in sonnet form, dealing with the criminal greed for riches of the hour and pointing out the difference in the character and ideals of the Pilgrims that first landed in New England, from whom sprang the sturdy race that made the United States.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS will publish shortly "The Silver Age of the Greek World," by John P. Mahaffy; "Hebrew Life and Thought," by Louise Seymour Houghton; "The Social Ideals of Alfred Tennyson as Related to His Time," by William C. Gordon; "The Legislative History of Naturalization in the United States," by Frank George Franklin; "The Finality of the Christian Religion," by George Burman Foster; "Ancient Records of Egypt," by James Henry Breasted, published in four volumes; and "Russian Reader," by Samuel N. Harper.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have postponed the publication of "Recollections and Letters of George Washington" until the autumn. June 1 will bring E. Nesbitt's new novel, "The Incomplete Amorist," the story of a man, master in the arts of love, who succumbs at last to a great love. Artistic and social life in Paris is pictured with the talent that made child-life so picturesque in "The Would-Be Goods" and other charming books. That powerful and haunting story, "The Jungle," has taken firm footing in England, and the best critics have given it great attention in the best periodicals. This house will publish "Hero Tales Every Child Should Know," edited by Hamilton W. Mabie; and "Birds Every Child Should Know," by W. L. Finley, both worthy to take place with the successful trio of books already published on "Myths," "Fairy Tales" and "Poems" that every child should know.

BRENTANO'S are preparing for immediate publication a book of dramatic sketches entitled "A Game at Love, and Other Plays," by George Sylvester Viereck. These plays are novels cast in dramatic form. They treat problems of life and love as seen through the medium of an extremely modern temperament, ranging in theme from love as a game and temperamental studies to the more primitive expression of a morality. Two years ago Mr. Viereck published a volume of German lyrics, "Gedichte," the strength and perfection of which received instant recognition at home and abroad. Leading critical journals and individual critics in Germany and America vied with each other in appreciation of the poems. Professor Calvin Thomas, of Columbia University, spoke of the book as "a most unusual phenomenon." "A Game at Love, and Other Plays" is Mr. Viereck's first English book.

MERRILL E. GATES, JR., receiver for the Consolidated Retail Booksellers, will sell the assets of the concern, consisting of a stock of books, office furniture and fixtures, copyrights, goodwill, etc., of the Consolidated Retail Booksellers. Sealed and secret bids for the property, as a whole, or in lots, will be received by the receiver at his office until three o'clock P.M., May 10, 1906, at which time and place the bids will be opened. No bid will be accepted if less than 100 per cent. of appraised value of the property, and no bid will be considered unless accompanied by certified check or cash for 10 per cent. of bid. The receiver reserves the right to reject any or all bids. In case all bids are rejected, the property will be sold at public auction by the receiver. Prospective purchasers desiring to inspect the property should communicate with the receiver. Inventory can be had on application at office of Merrill E. Gates, Jr., 44 Broad Street, New York City. All bids must be marked plainly on envelope, "Sealed Bid."

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

NOW READY

The Fading of the Mayflower

A Poem of the Present Time

By THEODORE TILTON

Formerly for Fifteen Years Editor of THE INDEPENDENT, New York

A timely and brilliant book by one of the most gifted writers and lecturers of the Civil War period.

Full of patriotic fervor, poetic beauty and human interest. It deals with the present-day questions of the get-rich-quick spirit, the crimes of the Money-Mad, the sordid greed of degenerate sons of Mayflower-Pilgrim ancestors, the worship of the Golden Calf, etc. It handles them, not with a muckrake, but a scourge, while it points to the noble and virtuous ideals of our country's fathers, typified by the beautiful Mayflower.

"Full of apt historical illusion and pertinent moral reflections. It is quite worthy of its fine setting."—New York Times.

"To-day I have been reading with unconcealed pleasure 'The Fading of the Mayflower,' by Theodore Tilton. I have reached the eighty-second sonnet of this beautiful volume with all the zest likely to be awakened by the best of romances or charming pages of history."—Unity.

Printed on fine India tint paper, with deckel edges, gilt top, bound in silk cloth, decorated in gold and colors. Decorations by Ralph Fletcher Seymour; drawings by W. J. Enright. There is also a life-like portrait of the celebrated author. . . . . Price, $1.50

Summer Bookselling

How to Promote It

A Word to Wide-a-Wake Retail Booksellers:

¶ While to most people summer means a season of recreation or loafing, to the bookseller it means increased activity and watchfulness to maintain the continuity of business and to bridge over until the fall and holiday season brings relief. If ever the book business requires a thorough knowledge on the part of the principal and his clerks of the character of their constituency, their movements, and their likes, and their needs, it is in the season during which the traveller, away from home and from the source of supplies, is most dependent upon those who serve him—whether with the necessaries or the luxuries of life.

¶ To the bookseller who is in a position to follow the summer traveller to his haunts in the mountains, or at the seashore, the task is much easier than it is for him who is obliged to remain anchored at home; but for both it means foresight in providing stock, and careful and intelligent handling of customers.

¶ One of the most important aids in pushing business during this season is a tempting catalogue of books suitable for shore and mountain reading, such as is prepared by this office in "SUMMER READING." It is prepared with the view of bringing to the special attention of summer visitors the classes of books in which they are most likely to be interested, and of giving attractive foretastes of the delights stored in them.

¶ Such a catalogue should be found serviceable by two classes of the trade: first, by city dealers, who may retain trade by filling orders by mail for the multitudes who go far out of sight of any bookstore, but can be cultivated by the aid of Uncle Sam; and second, by booksellers at or near summer resorts, who desire to pleasantly acquaint summer visitors that there is a bookstore near at hand from which they can be supplied. With such an aid old customers may be retained, and with energy and foresight much new trade can be created.

¶ "SUMMER READING" is about to be published for the twenty-ninth year, and may therefore be looked upon as a regular feature of the trade. With a new and attractive cover, bearing the special imprint of the dealer, it is adapted for circulation all through the summer, and that, too, at a price which will enable the bookseller with even the most restricted income to make at least a trial of securing trade through its means. The terms for editions with imprint are as follows:

100 copies	$3 50
250 "	8 00
500 "	15 00

¶ Directions for shipping should be given with the order. If sent by mail, postage will be charged extra.

¶ Orders for imprint editions should be sent at once, as the edition is limited to the number of copies ordered in advance.
